Packaging is not just a cover for your product,
it tells your brand story.

— A&H Worldwide

About Us

For over 50 years, A&H Worldwide has remained the global leader for imaginative design and innovative engineering solutions across a broad range of packaging products. From jewelry and accessory carding, boxes, tags, and molded items for belts, eyewear and more, to loss prevention solutions, sustainable packaging and ecommerce packaging, our commitment to quality is unsurpassed, and many of our customers have been doing business with us for more than thirty years. We consider that one of our greatest accomplishments!

The A&H team specializes in design driven problem-solving, applying a blend of art and science to create the world's most beautiful, functional and successful packaging products. We also offer coordinated packaging programs designed to tell your brands story with multiple packaging options. We're not just a manufacturer...we're designers, engineers and marketers with decades of experience in helping you sell your products.

We are the world leader in product packaging for many reasons, but beyond our packaging:

Our Credo

We Listen

We listen intently to everything our customers say. We get it right the first time. We don't just produce your packaging...we care about your packaging.

We Are Marketers

Many of our customers are not designers or marketers, so deciding on product packaging can be a daunting task at times. We take the lead when you need help the most...regardless of the task. We market your products to sell...period.

We Are Designers

We provide concepting and design for all of your packaging needs. We make it simple and easy for you to make the necessary decisions to market your products.

We Are Resourceful

With over 50 years of packaging expertise behind us, we are very resourceful. We go beyond packaging if need be.

We Are Manufacturers

With decades of packaging knowledge, many of our customers have been with us for over 30 years. Our best customers are the smallest boutiques, the world's largest retailers and everything in between. We believe every brand should have access to beautiful packaging.

Our Customers Are Our Family

Our time-honored tradition of "family first" remains at the forefront of what drives us as a company. We consider each and every one of our customers a part of our family. We are here for you whenever you need us.

In summary, we listen intently to our customers' needs. We work diligently to provide the finest packaging solutions for the world's best products, while taking the pressure off of our customers, so they can take care of their business.

Our DNA

Marketers

We transform the way your packaging works for your product. We educate you on the importance of strategically thinking about your product's image. We deliver the most beautiful, functional packaging in the world.

Designers

Our exceptionally talented designers create aesthetically perfect packaging. We take every bit of detail and turn it into your masterpiece. You will be proud!

Engineers

Not many packaging manufacturers can say they have the best engineering team in the industry. We can! From sizing to functionality, and everything in between, our dedicated engineering team will make sure your packaging performs exactly the way you want it to.

HOLIDAY TREND 2023

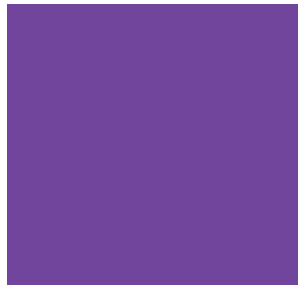

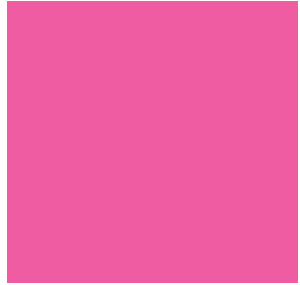

Celebratory

Whimsical

Jovial

Make the season BRIGHT! As our world regains a sense of normalcy post pandemic, it is more meaningful than ever to rejoice, let loose, and celebrate this holiday season. The blending of unconventional vibrant colors and vintage holiday patterns pull us back to a time of nostalgic childlike joy and carefree celebration.

CORE COLORS

BUBBLEGUM

GRINCH GREEN

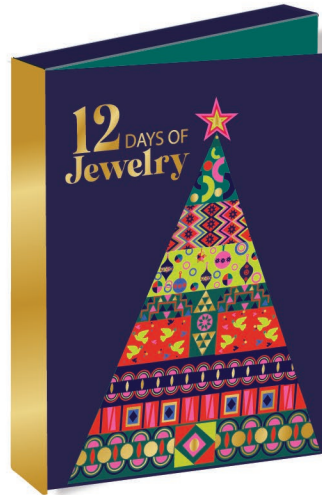

SUGAR PLUM

This palette puts a whimsical spin on traditional holiday hues, adding festive pops of bubblegum pink and sugar plum purple. Elements of metallic foils and glossy varnishes in contrast with luxurious flocking and soft touch finishes elevate the vibe, while animated patterns and punchy colors maintain the lighthearted mirthful essence embodied by this trend.

Sustainability

A&H Worldwide offers many alternative, sustainable materials to meet our customers' needs including recyclable and recycled paper, board, plastics, water based non-toxic inks and more. We offer innovative designs that reduce material requirements through package re-engineering and work with the most environmentally sound options available today. We are ISO 9001:2015, GMI, FSC, CONEG, SEDEX and RCS Certified.

In addition, A&H worldwide takes every opportunity to recycle, re-grind and re-use recyclable plastic materials and waste. We now offer up to 100% recycled plastic. Whenever possible, A&H sources materials from companies that share our commitment to sustainability.

We believe that the environment we thrive from should be cherished and protected for future generations.

We are committed to ensuring that we do our part to protect our planet.
